

Our Daily Bread

Sliced Thin by The Editor
Alex. H. Washburn

Somebody Owes an Explanation

to Sen. McClellan

Today's Quotation
Let it be written among the laws of the Persians and the Medes, that it be not altered.
—Book of Esther

The Nashville News which we received in last night's mail, dated today, says editorially:

"John McClellan, Arkansas senator and member of the Senate Appropriations Committee, was a strong supporter for flood control and river projects. His efforts were of major importance in the construction of Bull Shoals and Norfork dams in Arkansas, but the senator is caught in a freeboot between President Truman and Governor McMath.

"Senator McClellan has disagreed often, openly and courageously with HST and it is a commonly known fact that Sidney McMath, a political opportunist, covets the senator's position.

"President Truman will make the July 2 address when the dams are dedicated. Gov. McMath will be on hand to greet his New Deal colleague.

"But Senator John McClellan has received no invitation to appear at the dedication of two projects he fostered."

I have no information other than the Nashville paper's flat statement — but The Star has gone directly to Senator McClellan's office to find out whether it is true.

If the senior senator of Arkansas doesn't get an invitation to a major federal dedication in his own state there'll be a blast that will rip the gubernatorial campaign from the Mississippi river to the Texas line.

This isn't any declaration on state politics, either. But we're going to see to it that all our public characters keep the record straight, whether President, senator, or governor.

The credit for accomplishment of great public works belongs first to the senators and congressmen of the state in which they are located. Any President and any governor who stakes out a prior claim is an executive usurper grabbing at the traditional rights of the legislative branch of this republic.

This is one fact I am certain of. What goes on between McMath and Truman is their business — until it touches the prestige and good credit of the senior senator of Arkansas. McClellan was elected in 1942 and has honored the people of this state throughout the nation as an independent and courageous spokesman.

He won against great odds in 1942, and if he is being undermined by political contrivance in 1952 I assure you it's an operation that is scheduled to be blown higher than Bull Shoals' spillway.

And if it is verified that Senator McClellan is not to be an honored guest at that dedication then the boom is lowered and the rhubarb begins.

Stalin's Woman Friend Victim of Red Purge

Vienna, May 30 (AP) — Ana Pauker, friend of Stalin and possibly the most powerful woman in the Communist world, was reported here today to have been purged from her position as Romania's foreign minister.

The mannish-looking 59-year-old woman, lifelong Communist and daughter of a Jewish butcher, was reported also to have been relieved of her positions as deputy prime minister and as No. 2 Communist on the Romanian Politburo.

These reports were carried by Vienna newspapers. The newspapers said the Bucharest Radio and the Romanian News Agency Agerpress had carried a new Politburo list, on which Ana Pauker's name failed to appear. She previously had been listed as number two in the Politburo — or political bureau of the Communist party in Romania. The Politburo is the executive body of the Communist party in any state.

Associated Press monitors in Vienna did not hear the announcement but it was possible they missed the broadcast which reportedly carried it. Neither was the reported announcement carried by Tass or the Prague or Budapest radio stations.

Two other top Communists were removed from their government posts in Romania Wednesday. They were the former finance minister, Vasile Luca — a close friend and collaborator of Ana Pauker — and the nation's interior minister Tachei Georgescu.

They were purged for "right-wing opportunistic thoughts." Apparently, they did not go along with Russia's iron control over Romania's political and economic life.

Nell McCargo Hurt in Fall From Horse

Miss Nell McCargo of Hope was badly shaken up but not believed seriously injured yesterday when she was thrown from a horse while she was riding alone near the

Truman Greeted Acheson With Much Praise

Washington, May 30 (AP) — President Truman, greeting Secretary of State Acheson at National Airport, declined today that pact allying West Germany with the western anti-Communist bloc has made a "great contribution to the peace of the world."

Acheson said agreements signed in the past week at Bonn and Paris will mean "very much to the security of our nation, our allies and all the free world."

The last week, Acheson told the President, in the U. S., that meant Senate consideration of the agreements which have been completed and signed but which must still pass the test of ratification.

Atom Weapons Request to Be Studied

Washington, May 30 (AP) — A House appropriations subcommittee will go to work next week on President Truman's request for a special $3,341,000,000 appropriation to expand the five-year atomic weapons program.

Chairman Thomas (D-Tex.) said his group will give the request "ample consideration during the next couple of weeks" and will call upon top military officials to testify. But he said he saw no great urgency in the matter.

The President said, in a letter to Speaker Rayburn transmitting his request to Congress, that the money was needed for a "major further expansion" of the atomic program. In another letter, to Sen. Maybank (D-Sc.), chairman of the Senate appropriations subcommittee handling atomic funds, Truman said the expansion he proposed had the approval of the National Security Council. The council is a top foreign-military policy board.

"Our national security and the security of the free world," the President said, "demand that we maintain and increase our leadership in this field. Not to do so would invite disaster."

The requested new appropriation would include $3,191,000,000 for the and 150 million dollars for the Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA), a major power producer in the vicinity of prime atomic plants.

It would be in addition to $1,137,727,500 earmarked for the AEC and 185 millions for TVA in the regular budget bill now pending in the Senate.

Thomas said in an interview, "Unless there is a very strong need for it, I'm not going to be for it." Thomas added, "I don't see any great urgency."

Key senators in atomic energy affairs took a more favorable stand.

Maybank said the request, if approved, "will allow us to maintain our superior position in atomic weapons—it is one more step to keep ahead."

Sen. McMahon (D-Conn.), chairman of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee, has asked for a six-fold increase of the atomic energy spending rate to about six billions a year.

McMahon said in a statement: "The program before Congress (the President's request) is a bare minimum program. It does not call for doing as much as we can do nor as fast as we can do it. This places a premium upon speedy congressional action. This appropriation is absolutely vital to our national security."

The President's message did not discuss details, except to say that the additional money would "provide a greater capacity for the production of fissionable materials and for the fabrication of such materials into atomic weapons."

McMahon indicated the bulk of the money Truman asked for would go for new plants.

The AEC said the program includes one previously announced Ohio River Valley atomic plant.

Shortly after sending his letter, the President said he would attend keel-laying ceremonies for the country's first atomic-powered submarine, the Nautilus, at New London, Conn., June 14.

Sardis Church Singing Sunday

A singing program will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday, June 1, at Sardis Union Church near Patmos. The public is invited.

Garrett Church Meet Starts June 1

A two-weeks revival starts Sunday, June 1, at Garrett Memorial Baptist Church, 306 N. Ferguson. Services will be held twice daily.

Emmet Bible School Is Postponed

Daily vacation Bible school, scheduled to start Sunday, June 1 at Emmet Methodist Church, has been postponed.

Large Crowd Greeted Rodeo Opener

A fairly large opening crowd attended the first performance of the Third District Livestock Show's Spring Rodeo here last night.

The results were as follows in order:

Calf roping: Ray Matheson, Texarkana, 16.4; Floyd Hendrix, Tulsa 10.8; Byron Wolford, Tyler, Texas, 22.5.

Bulldogging: Gerald Williams, Greenville, Tex., 5 seconds; Bill Proctor of Belton, Tex., 7 sec.; James Durham, Sherman, Tex., 12.

Bareback riding: Bob Ferguson, Oklahoma City; Billy Weeks, Chickney, Okla.; Fred Morgan, Wright City, Okla.

Saddle bronc: Bob Ferguson, Oklahoma City; Bill Agee, Amarillo, Tex.; Marvin Holmes, Pickett, Okla.; Bill Proctor, Belton, Tex.

Bull riding: Fuller Monroe, Sherman, Tex.; Tod Whitley, Hugo, Okla.; Buck Bryant, Kiowa, Okla.

Girl's barrel riding: Kay Lee Williams, Texarkana, 17.2; Hazel Mouser, Texarkana, 17.7; Charlene Watkins, Texarkana, 18; Shirley Sue Smith, North Little Rock, 13.2.

Library Plans a Vacation Reading Club This Summer

A vacation reading club will begin June 2, at Hemstead County Library. The club will be called the Tom Sawyer Reading Club.

In this club the boys and girls will have the fun of painting a fence as their reading progresses. The picket fence is printed to represent wood grain and the name of each member will be placed at the bottom of a picket.

As each book is read and recorded in a special booklet the reader will be given a piece of white gummed paper to paste over the wood grain of his picket. It takes fifteen pieces of white paper to complete one picket. This means that fifteen books will have to be read to paint a picket. A member may paint as many pickets as he wishes during the summer.

Diplomas will be awarded at the end of the summer to those who have successfully completed their reading project of fifteen books.

Books which will count in the reading club will be books suitable for the grade level of the member. Books to count in the club must be books which are read after June 2.

Children in Hemstead county who were in the fourth grade during the school year 1951-52 and grades above will be eligible for membership in the Tom Sawyer Reading Club.

Man Made Buck Sergeant in the American Army Simply Through Popular Demand

By HAL BOYLE

New York, May 30 (AP) — Ever hear of a man being made a buck sergeant in the American army by popular demand?

Girl Scouts and Brownies to Hold Day Camp June 2-6

The Girl Scout and Brownie Day Camp will be held at the park June 2-6 with a flag ceremony opening activities at 9 a.m. Monday. The camp starts at 9:15 a.m.

The following activities are planned in the Scout division:

Handicraft, Mrs. Jim Cole and Mrs. Dayton Thomas in charge. Tennis, Judy Moses, instructor. Folk Dancing, Mrs. Sam Andrews.

Swimming, Mrs. C. V. Nunn, Jr. Activities — Volley Ball, Dodge ball and Horseshoes — Betty Owen.

The Curved Bar Scouts will assist all groups in various demonstrations and instructions.

Brownie Troops: Naturelore, Mrs. H. O. Klyer, Jr. Mrs. Kenneth Powell and Mrs. Brack Schenck.

Swimming, Mrs. C. V. Nunn, Jr. Folk Dance, Betty Sue Edmiston.

Handicraft, Lyla Brown.

Each day one group will cook out while others bring their own lunches. Drinks will be furnished. The Scouts will hold a special program the final day of the camp.

Man Made Buck Sergeant in the American Army Simply Through Popular Demand

By HAL BOYLE

New York, May 30 (AP) — Ever hear of a man being made a buck sergeant in the American army by popular demand?

Father Frank Woods, an Irish priest who spent 17 years as a missionary in Korea, holds that unique honor. He also holds the American medal of freedom awarded for his work with front-line troops.

"But every G. I. in Korea should have been given it before me," he said yesterday before boarding the liner Mauretania for his native Ireland. He sailed with five other Far East missionaries to attend the election of a new head of their order, the Columbian Fathers.

Father Frank, a ruddy-faced, graying man of 48, a buddy-faced, best-known chaplain in Korea as a result of his legendary battlefield exploits.

Shortly after the U. S. troops landed in Korea, the stocky priest volunteered his services. Because he was a non-citizen, he was told he couldn't be put on Uncle Sam's payroll as a chaplain.

That made no difference to Father Frank. For more than a year he served without rank or pay with the second battalion of the U. S. Second Infantry Division, an outfit that saw some of the hardest fighting of the Korean campaign.

Carrying a rifle himself for his own protection, he went on dangerous patrols to act as interpreter. He gave the last rites to hundreds of American wounded men. Sleeping with the officers, eating with the enlisted men, he was a

Allies Beat Off Chinese Attacks

Seoul, Korea, May 30 (AP) — United Nations troops today beat off two attempts by a pair of North Korean Red companies to capture a towering East Korean peak which Allied soldiers called "Duke's Castle."

The peak rises 3,000 feet above valley floors and overlooks several miles of Communist front lines. Reds have tried intermittently to knock U. N. troops off it for the past month.

Hope Sergeant With 8th Army in Korea

With the Eighth Army in Korea — Sergeant First Class Wesley P. Calhoun, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Calhoun, Route 1, Hope, Ark., recently attended an orientation on public information policies and methods at the Eighth Army advance headquarters in Korea.

In civilian life, Calhoun graduated from the University of Arkansas with a BS degree in business administration.

Calhoun was assigned to the 8th Army as a public information officer. He was promoted to sergeant in the Korean army by popular demand.

Calhoun was assigned to the 8th Army as a public information officer. He was promoted to sergeant in the Korean army by popular demand.

Calhoun was assigned to the 8th Army as a public information officer. He was promoted to sergeant in the Korean army by popular demand.

Calhoun was assigned to the 8th Army as a public information officer. He was promoted to sergeant in the Korean army by popular demand.

Calhoun was assigned to the 8th Army as a public information officer. He was promoted to sergeant in the Korean army by popular demand.

Calhoun was assigned to the 8th Army as a public information officer. He was promoted to sergeant in the Korean army by popular demand.

Calhoun was assigned to the 8th Army as a public information officer. He was promoted to sergeant in the Korean army by popular demand.

Calhoun was assigned to the 8th Army as a public information officer. He was promoted to sergeant in the Korean army by popular demand.

Calhoun was assigned to the 8th Army as a public information officer. He was promoted to sergeant in the Korean army by popular demand.

Calhoun was assigned to the 8th Army as a public information officer. He was promoted to sergeant in the Korean army by popular demand.

Calhoun was assigned to the 8th Army as a public information officer. He was promoted to sergeant in the Korean army by popular demand.

Calhoun was assigned to the 8th Army as a public information officer. He was promoted to sergeant in the Korean army by popular demand.

Calhoun was assigned to the 8th Army as a public information officer. He was promoted to sergeant in the Korean army by popular demand.

Riots Feature Holidays Tokyo, Koje Disorders Leave 11 Reds Dead

Russians Fire on American Newsmen

Berlin, May 30 (UP) — A Russian soldier and an East German policeman fired warning shots today to drive American and other photographers away from the barricaded dividing line between Western and Eastern Berlin.

Photographers including Americans Carl Mydans and Thomas Lambert of Time and Life magazines and Martin Badekow, a German representing the United States Television organization approached the barricades at the border.

A Communist policeman raised his rifle and fired one shot with it as the photographers scattered.

Two Russian soldiers ran up and one fired a warning shot from his burp gun. Apparently he fired into the ground.

Nobody was wounded but the policeman leaped over the barrier into the American sector and grabbed a camera which Badekow had set on the ground. The German jumped back to Red territory with the camera.

The Western Allies demanded, shortly before this incident, that the Russians stop interfering with West Berlin's highway, railroad and telephone-telegram communications.

Diplomas and Awards Given to Graduates

Hope High School graduates last night heard honor students discuss "Enemies Within Our Gates" and were commended by Governor Sid McMath for their ability to "grasp the problems that endanger America today."

It was practically a McMath program with the Governor giving the principal address, his cousin, Syd McMath president of the school board, passing out diplomas to graduates and the valedictorian's address was made by young Syd McMath, Jr.

The Governor opened his talk with the declaration, "If any more Sid McMaths develop I'm mortally certain an open season will be declared on them."

Special awards given to graduates by members of the faculty included:

National Honor Society for outstanding service, Claudette Doyle, Nolan Stanford.

Senior Play cast, outstanding performance, Sara Lauterbach, Bobby Williams.

Junior Play, Jim Yocom and Jacques Williams.

Home Economics, superior work quality, Marilyn Shiver.

Charles Palmer Davis Award — Billy Joe Baker.

Outstanding Athlete, Jimmy Dan Baber.

Danforth Foundation, William Martin, Beth Bridgers.

DAR American History, Audrey Light.

Bausch and Lomb Science, Jimmy Compton.

DAR Good Citizenship, Sara Lauterbach.

Journalism, Marilyn Shiver.

Yearbook Editor, Charlene Rogers.

American Legion Award, Nolan Stanford and Pansy Barnes.

Arkansas High School Press Association's Contest:

Art — Sara Lauterbach.

Feature Story — Frances Wensberger.

Lion Oil Contest, Beth Bridgers.

National Society of Arts and Letters, Roberta Howard.

Beryl Henry Award, Marilyn Shiver.

Salutatorian Award, Marilyn Shiver.

Valedictorian Award, Syd McMath, Jr.

Chinese Hint of Reprisals

Munsan, Korea, May 30 (AP) — The Communists' chief truce negotiator today called the killing of a Red prisoner on Koje Island an atrocity. And he dropped a thinly-voiced hint of possible reprisals against Allied prisoners held in North Korea.

United Nations authorities on Koje had reported one Communist prisoner was killed and another wounded Thursday by the accidental discharge of a guard's rifle.

North Korean Gen. Nam Il demanded that the Allies "immediately stop these atrocities." Then he told the U. N. delegation:

"I clearly remind you that to protect the war prisoners is a mutual and reciprocal responsibility of both belligerents. You should not fail to see the consequences of your action."

French Alerted of Additional Demonstrations

Paris, May 30 (UP) — The government accused the French Communist Party today of plotting to seize power and alerted police throughout the country to be ready to crush a Red "insurrection."

them B. Ridgway, who took over in a nationwide radio broadcast said that the government would put down at once any further violent Red demonstrations, which he said had developed into a "real insurrection" Wednesday night.

The Reds started demonstrating against the arrival of Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, who took over from Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower as Allied Supreme commander.

When Jacques Duclos, No. 1 French Communist leader, was arrested on the charge of inciting the riots and acting against the internal security of France, the Reds ordered mass strikes and demonstrations in protest.

But Duclos remained in jail today and Magistrate Pierre Jacquinet, in charge of his case, notified Andre Stille, editor of the Communist Newspaper Humanite, that he, too, faced charges of plotting against the government. Still, like Duclos, he is in jail. It was made known that Duclos' home was searched.

Sporadic word stoppages were reported all over France in response to the Red call for strikes protesting Duclos' arrest.

The authorities seized today's editions of a number of provincial Communist newspapers but permitted the sale of Humanite and its follow Paris Red paper Liberation for the first time in three days.

Duclos will be charged as the chief leader of Wednesday's anti-Ridgway demonstrations.

If convicted, Duclos could be sentenced to anything from one year in prison to indefinite solitary confinement. He is secretary-general of the French Communist Party and the most influential and important Communist leader in the Western world.

Eisenhower Gives Up Defense Command

By The Associated Press

Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, surrendering his defense command in Paris today, said he will refuse to engage in an active campaign for the Republican presidential nomination.

A spokesman for Eisenhower's campaign headquarters in Washington said, however, that what the general meant by that statement was that "he won't go on any transcontinental train trips or go around shaking hands."

"He will," the spokesman added, "talk to anybody who comes to see him and that includes party leaders as well as delegates."

The spokesman said the head of every delegation to the July 7 GOP national convention has been invited to call on Eisenhower before the convention to learn his views on the major issues of the day.

Battle Pay Bill Notice Served

Washington, May 30 (AP) — The House today served notice that it will pass a bill to raise battle pay for World War II veterans.

The bill would raise the maximum monthly benefit from $100 to $125 for veterans with 30 years of service.

The bill also would raise the maximum monthly benefit from $75 to $100 for veterans with 20 years of service.

The bill would raise the maximum monthly benefit from $50 to $75 for veterans with 10 years of service.

The bill would raise the maximum monthly benefit from $25 to $50 for veterans with 5 years of service.

The bill would raise the maximum monthly benefit from $10 to $25 for veterans with 1 year of service.

The bill would raise the maximum monthly benefit from $5 to $10 for veterans with 6 months of service.

The bill would raise the maximum monthly benefit from $2 to $5 for veterans with 3 months of service.

The bill would raise the maximum monthly benefit from $1 to $2 for veterans with 1 month of service.

The bill would raise the maximum monthly benefit from $0.50 to $1 for veterans with 1 week of service.

The bill would raise the maximum monthly benefit from $0.25 to $0.50 for veterans with 1 day of service.

The bill would raise the maximum monthly benefit from $0.10 to $0.25 for veterans with 1 hour of service.

The bill would raise the maximum monthly benefit from $0.05 to $0.10 for veterans with 1 minute of service.

The bill would raise the maximum monthly benefit from $0.01 to $0.05 for veterans with 1 second of service.

The bill would raise the maximum monthly benefit from $0.005 to $0.01 for veterans with 1 millisecond of service.

The bill would raise the maximum monthly benefit from $0.001 to $0.005 for veterans with 1 microsecond of service.

The bill would raise the maximum monthly benefit from $0.0001 to $0.001 for veterans with 1 nanosecond of service.

The bill would raise the maximum monthly benefit from $0.00001 to $0.0001 for veterans with 1 picosecond of service.

The bill would raise the maximum monthly benefit from $0.000001 to $0.00001 for veterans with 1 femtosecond of service.

The bill would raise the maximum monthly benefit from $0.0000001 to $0.000001 for veterans with 1 attosecond of service.

The bill would raise the maximum monthly benefit from $0.00000001 to $0.0000001 for veterans with 1 zeptosecond of service.

The bill would raise the maximum monthly benefit from $0.000000001 to $0.00000001 for veterans with 1 yoctosecond of service.

The bill would raise the maximum monthly benefit from $0.0000000001 to $0.000000001 for veterans with 1 rontosecond of service.

The bill would raise the maximum monthly benefit from $0.00000000001 to $0.0000000001 for veterans with 1 quectosecond of service.

The bill would raise the maximum monthly benefit from $0.000000000001 to $0.00000000001 for veterans with 1 rontosecond of service.

The bill would raise the maximum monthly benefit from $0.0000000000001 to $0.000000000001 for veterans with 1 quectosecond of service.

The bill would raise the maximum monthly benefit from $0.00000000000001 to $0.0000000000001 for veterans with 1 rontosecond of service.

The bill would raise the maximum monthly benefit from $0.000000000000001 to $0.00000000000001 for veterans with 1 quectosecond of service.

The bill would raise the maximum monthly benefit from $0.0000000000000001 to $0.000000000000001 for veterans with 1 rontosecond of service.

The bill would raise the maximum monthly benefit from $0.00000000000000001 to $0.0000000000000001 for veterans with 1 quectosecond of service.

The bill would raise the maximum monthly benefit from $0.000000000000000001 to $0.00000000000000001 for veterans with 1 r

Maybank Asks Extension of Price Controls

Washington, May 29 (AP) — Sen. Maybank (D-SC) told the Senate today it would be a tragedy to end the wage-price control program June 30.

Opening debate on a bill to continue the controls until next March 1, the Banking Committee chairman urged the Senate to reject an amendment by Sen. Dirksen (R-Ill.) to allow the curbs to run out when the present law expires June 30.

Adoption of the Dirksen proposal Maybank said, would be "nothing short of a tragedy." He pointed out that Congress has the power to end controls any time it wishes if it should develop later that the restrictions are no longer needed.

But now, he said, there are inflationary pressures likely to continue for several months. It would be unwise to scrap controls until the situation has changed, he said.

Opponents of an extension said in advance of today's session they doubted they could muster the votes to end the program next month.

Sen. John W. Bricker (R-Ohio) told a reporter he favors wiping out wage-price curbs.

"But I doubt, very much that we can do it," he added, noting that a similar motion to scrap the program was rejected in the Senate Banking Committee by a vote of 9 to 4.

Sen. Maybank, the committee chairman and floor manager of the bill, predicted passage probably next week without substantial change.

The House Banking Committee completed hearings on its controls bill yesterday and plans to vote on the measure next week.

Among other things, the Senate bill also would extend rent control and authority to allocate scarce essential materials to June 30, 1953. President Truman asked for extension of those provisions and wage-price controls to June 30, 1954.

Another section of the bill would abolish the present Wage Stabilization Board and replace it with an all-public panel stripped of authority to recommend settlement of labor-management disputes.

The board — on which labor, industry and the public now have equal representation — came up with recommendations in the steel dispute which resulted in a deadlock and led to government seizure of the mills.

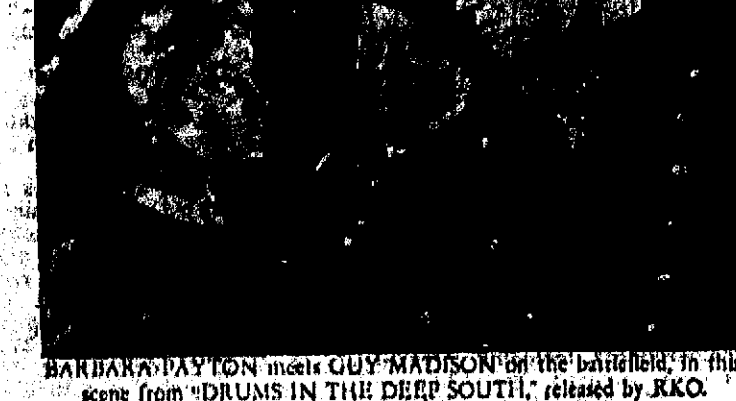

In a report to the Senate yesterday, a majority of the Banking committee said the WSB as now set up as powers which could sound "the death knell of collective bargaining."

Street Car Opens Sunday at Saenger

Kim Hunter in "A Streetcar Named Desire" with Marlon Brando. The scene is from the original Broadway production.

Starts Sunday at the Rialto

Barbara Patton in "Drums in the Deep South" with Guy Madison. The scene is from the original Broadway production.

Ownership of River Isle Before Court

Little Rock, May 30 (AP) — A legal wrangle over ownership of an island in the Mississippi River was taken to the Arkansas Supreme Court yesterday by State Land Commissioner Claude A. Rankin.

Rankin asked the court to prohibit Little Rock Chancellor Guy B. Williams from interfering with his determination of the case.

Rankin was sued in Judge Williams' court by R. V. Kimble, who said he is the rightful owner of some 1,500 acres of Harwood Island in Chicago County. Rankin had determined that the state owned the land and was preparing to sell it to a lumber company.

Judge Williams enjoined Rankin from selling the land, and directed him to pay into Pulaski County Court registry $3,000 which the Land Office had received from timber cut on the island.

Rankin asked the Supreme Court to hold that Williams is without jurisdiction in the case.

In another case, John L. Motherhead and others asked that Chancellor Andrew Pontier of Newport be directed to carry out a Supreme Court mandate in litigation involving the affairs of Polk-Southard Company, a mining concern.

Motherhead contended that Judge Pontier had not followed the high court's decision of last Oct. 22 on an appeal from Independence Chancery Court.

Four Missing in N. Mexico Is Mystery

Albuquerque, May 30 (AP) — The wide open spaces of New Mexico buzzed today with a rumored break in one of the most baffling of all Western murder mysteries — the Lofgren case.

But the break, if any, almost equals in mystery the disappearance of two middle-aged Illinois couples just 17 years and eight days ago, as they traveled through New Mexico, Mr. and Mrs. George M. Lofgren of East St. Louis and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Heberer of Duquoin dropped from sight en route to a California vacation.

The latest rumor began yesterday, James Christensen, chief criminal investigator for Illinois, left his Springfield headquarters — reportedly to follow a tip from a local informant.

The prosecutor — unidentified — claims to have found a skeleton which may be one of the four missing. No bodies ever were found, although the Lofgrens were found abandoned in Dallas six days after the party disappeared.

But Christensen failed to turn up here or in other New Mexico communities where, on the basis of present knowledge, he could follow through on the faded disappearance. Illinois officials refused to comment on Christensen's possible New Mexico destination. But one spokesman, pressed on the point, strongly hinted it is in "a state of confusion."

New Mexico officials likewise professed ignorance of any break in the case — particularly the finding of a skeleton. A check failed to turn up any prosecutor with knowledge of the case.

Red Ambassador Recalled to Moscow

London, May 30 (AP) — The British government recalled its ambassador to Moscow, Sir Kenneth Robinson, after a statement by the Soviet government.

McGranery Has Resignation of Top Men

Washington, May 29 (AP) — All the top men in the Justice Department have handed in their resignations, but that doesn't necessarily mean they will be leaving soon.

James P. McGranery, who took office as attorney general Tuesday, called for the resignations. It was learned today.

Most, but not all, attorneys general in the past have taken the same course. The idea is to give the new boss a free hand in making whatever changes he might desire.

The undated resignations were sent to McGranery, but were addressed to President Truman. McGranery will keep them handy for transmittal to the White House if and when he decides on changes.

All those asked to hand in resignations are presidential appointees — most assistant attorneys general who head divisions.

Department officials said McGranery presumably followed the usual course and sent his own resignation to Truman's desk. That was how Truman fired his last attorney general, J. Howard McGrath. He simply got McGrath's resignation out of the files and announced it was accepted.

In addition to McGranery and Solicitor General Philip B. Perlman, second-ranking official in the department, presidential appointees include these division chiefs, all with the rank of assistant attorney general:

H. Graham Morrison, anti-trust; William Amory Unerhill, lands; Holmes Baldrige, claims; James M. McInerney, Criminal Division.

One of the first appointments under the McGranery regime will be a new chief of the Tax Division. That division has been headed by an acting chief since the President fired T. Lamar Caudle last November during an investigation of Internal Revenue Bureau scandals.

Students Suspended for Broadcast

Ithaca, N. Y., May 30 (AP) — Twenty-five Cornell University students who seized a university radio station and broadcast fake war bulletins have been suspended for a year.

The Faculty Committee on Student Conduct announced last night the suspensions would take effect Thursday, last day of classes.

Two students, wearing masks, controlled the student-operated station WVRB for eight minutes Wednesday night after overpowering three student staff members. Another 15 students admitted participating.

The fake broadcast said European cities had been bombed and an air armada was approaching North America. Some "fainting and hysteria" was reported in women's dormitories but a college spokesman said there was "no panic."

Names of the students were not disclosed. In the group were sophomores, juniors and seniors.

The faculty committee said all could take examinations and be readmitted for the next year.

The seniors will not be graduated until June 1953, and the other students may not register again until that fall, the committee said.

The 35 apologized publicly in a statement yesterday.

The station can be heard only locally around the campus. The Cornell Radio Station is a non-profit organization.

One Arkansan Dies in Crash

Fort Worth, Tex., May 29 (AP) — One Arkansan was killed and another injured in the crash of a B-24 bomber at Carswell Air Force base here yesterday.

Dead is Airman 2C John C. Clark, 19, whose mother, Mrs. E. S. Clark, lives on Route 4, Box 20, near Blue Bluff, Ark. Injured was Airman 2C James M. Potts, 24, son of James Potts, 24, Washington, D.C.

The B-24 was on a mission to drop incendiary bombs on a target area near Fort Worth.

The crash occurred at 10:10 a.m. on the following day, June 1.

A phone still rings occasionally in an office or home with some minor problem to be settled, but for the most part the wreckage is complete except for the decorations which have been left as the last thing to be done.

The general has said "it will be a Kansas affair," but about 300 newsmen, broadcasters and telecasters will be on hand to report what he has to say.

Jet Crash Kills Two of Two Wars

Tokyo, May 29 (AP) — Brig. Gen. Aaron W. Tyler, vice commander of the Japan Air Defense Force and a twice-wounded veteran of World War II, was killed yesterday in a jet crash.

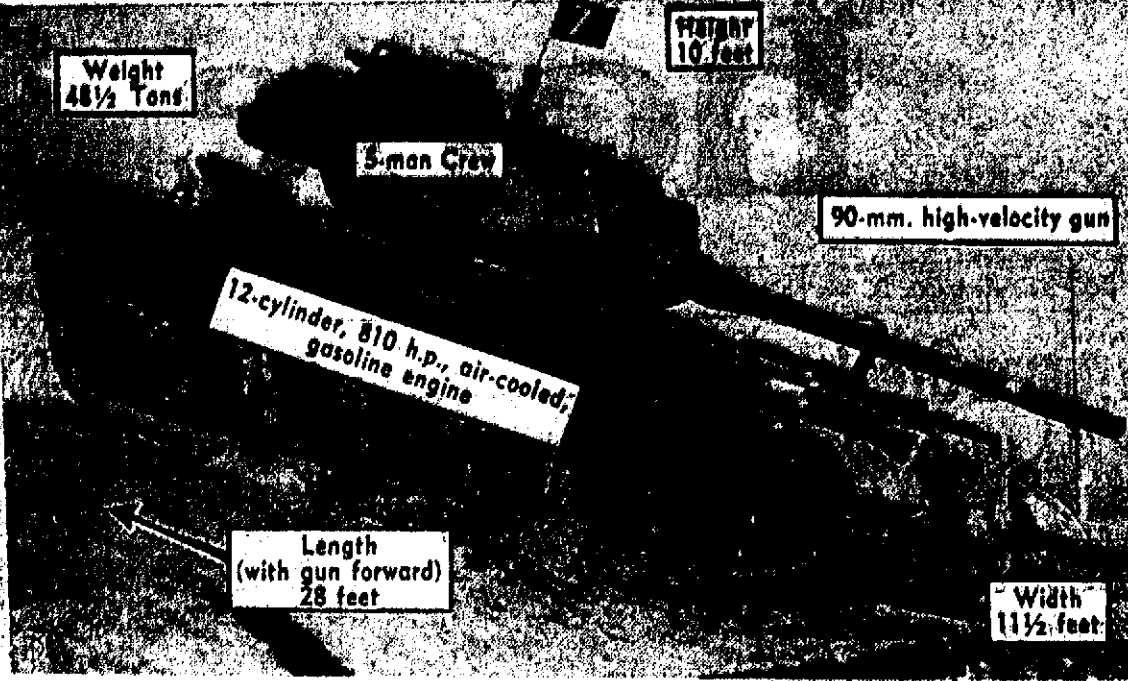

The Air Force said today Tyler's B-24 Starliner jet nosed down shortly after takeoff, clipped the tops of two small buildings, crashed and burned in a rice paddy.

Killed with Tyler was Capt. E. R. Crane of Wichita, Kan., a veteran fighter pilot with 100 missions in World War II and in Korea.

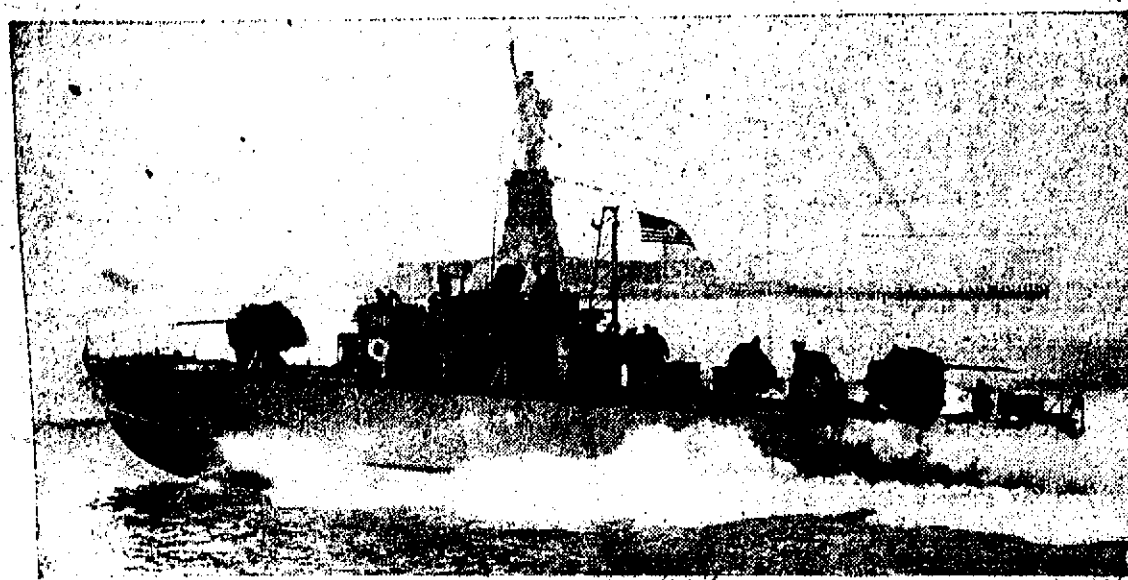

Air Force headquarters in Tokyo did not know if Tyler was at the controls. The plane crashed near Komaki Air Base in Central Honshu.

Preliminary reports attributed the crash to a possible flameout — the failure of combustion in a jet engine.

Tyler, 40, was a pilot-general who regularly flew his own plane. He was the first Air Force general killed in the Far East since the Pacific War, the Air Force said.

UNVEIL "PATTON'S" SUCCESSOR—Here is the M-47, successor to the famed M-46 "Patton" tank and the first medium tank to be turned out for Army Ordnance since World War II. It's in quantity production at the American Locomotive plant at Schenectady, N. Y. The new tank has many improvements over the old Patton. These include a more lethal and effective gun, with increased probability of a first-round hit, a higher rate of fire, automatic re-aiming after each shot, greatly enlarged field of vision and improved armor. In addition to features listed on photo, the M-47 carries two .50 calibre and one .30 calibre machine guns and has a two-way radio.

SHOWING OFF FOR MISS LIBERTY—Called the "newest and speediest" of the Navy's surface craft, one of the new aluminum PT boats whizzes past the Statue of Liberty in New York harbor. The Navy is mum about the actual speed of the 75-ton, 89-foot-long craft, but says it's faster than World War II PT boats.

Collections of Sales Tax Hit a New High

Little Rock, May 29 (AP) — Arkansas Revenue Commissioner Carl F. Parker says state tax collections for the 1951-52 revenue year totaled a record high of $95,077,813.

An all-time high of $97.2 million will be attained for the year when $2.2 million in taxes from other departments is added, he said.

Both the gasoline and sales taxes — two of Arkansas' biggest income producers — set records. Gasoline taxes totaled $26,900,794.

The sales tax brought in $27,364,015.

Taxes on cigarettes and liquor sales dropped from last year, but the decline was more than made up with the special taxes levied on commodities by the 1951 Legislature. The cigarette tax brought in $4,127,877, and the liquor tax $2,799,886.

The 2-cent a pack levy placed on cigarettes to finance construction of the University of Arkansas Medical School's Teaching Hospital here, produced $2,206,463. The 3 per cent excise tax on liquor brought in $668,082 for the Public Institutions Fund.

The total collections were about $12 million more than in 1947-48.

Fair Enough

By Westbrook Pegler
Copyright, 1952
By King Features Syndicate.

An article in the Osservatore Romano, the official Vatican newspaper, by Monsignor Luigi Civardi, indirectly defines the difference between the status of the Italian worker and the American worker in relation to their governments.

The new Italian constitution provides that every citizen who is unable to work and is without the necessary means of livelihood is entitled to maintenance and social assistance. He is also "entitled to be provided for and assured the means adequate for existence in the case of accident, chronic disability, old age and unemployment."

Monsignor Civardi regards this as "a notable step forward."

By good fortune I was able to spend an hour with him in his office in Rome a few months ago in the course of which I learned that the organization of labor in Italy and the concept of unionism there differ importantly from our unions and their conduct. There is no greater authority in his field in the Vatican. His idealism seems naive by comparison to the vicious realities of our unionism, but the fault here is not to be found in the deals but in the badness of the managers of the American union racket and the negligence or connivance of men who have a duty to protect the worker from oppression and exploitation by unions as well as by employers. An Italian scholar in the Vatican can not know by practical experience the realities of unionism in the United States. If he relies on official publications of our State Department he will be grievously deceived, as I will prove one day soon by an examination of this fraudulent dossier. He should be wary of the self-serving boasts and lies of touring American union racketeers who swagger through Italy on lavish expense accounts paid by their subjects and augmented by the State Department, scattering shreds like princes of old and taking unctious to themselves as men of great charity.

The system of American unionism, as a political thing is so complex, so audacious and so corrupt that even Americans, with only a few exceptions, do not comprehend its badness. The problem of knowing how bad it is for the members as well as for the much greater number who have escaped the man hunt and the round-ups is not made easier by the counsel of advisers who have either failed to learn the truth or believe that bad unions are better than none. Obviously, then, a scientific man, studying social problems in broad phases at a great distance can come to mistaken conclusions about American unionism.

Even our own people find it hard to understand that the national government has neither a duty nor a constitutional right to feed, clothe and house them when they are out of work. The social security fraud presumes to make a pass at providing for them in case of accident or illness.

Ex-Red Tells of Work of 2 Spy Rings

Washington, May 29 (AP) Ex-Communist Whitaker Chambers and Elizabeth Bentley told Senate investigators today it must be assumed that Communists agents are at work in the government, trying to pry our secrets.

Both said they had no personal knowledge of Red spies on the federal payroll, but Chambers commented it would be childish to assume there are none.

Miss Bentley, who says she worked with two espionage rings here during World War II, testified her contacts informed her that the "obviously are still operating inside the government. She said they have not yet been exposed and 'obviously are still operating.'"

"She could shed no light, however, on who they might be or what departments they might be working."

However, she remarked that the Communists were not interested in low clerks or typists who do not have access to official secrets. Chambers and Miss Bentley were before the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee. Each has been a frequent witness for the last several years at congressional inquiries into alleged subversive activities.

It was accusations by Chambers which led to the jailing of Alger Hiss.

The subcommittee for more than a year has been investigating the Institute of Pacific Relations, a private research organization, search of any subversive influence on U. S. Far East policy.

Hiss, one-time high official in the State Department, was convicted of perjury after Chambers accused him of passing along State Department documents while Chambers was a Communist courier.

Hiss is serving a five-year prison sentence. Still denying Chambers' testimony, he has asked for a new trial.

The subcommittee said Chambers' tales and activities of Communist agents.

Maj. Gen. Claire L. Chennault, wartime Air Force Commander in China, was also summoned by the subcommittee for testimony. The other four witnesses are:

Adm. R. H. Hillebrand, former director of the Central Intelligence Agency; ex-Communist Elizabeth Bentley and Hede Massing, Herbert Philbrick, a former undercover agent in the Communist party.

It is estimated that on an average day, the Massachusetts State Police have 100 to 150 Communist agents in the state.

Maybank Asks Extension of Price Controls

Washington, May 29 (AP) — Sen. Maybank (D-SC) told the Senate today it would be a tragedy to end the wage-price control program June 30.

Opening debate on a bill to continue the controls until next March 1, the Banking Committee chairman urged the Senate to reject an amendment by Sen. Dirksen (R-Ill.) to allow the curbs to run out when the present law expires June 30.

Adoption of the Dirksen proposal Maybank said, would be "nothing short of a tragedy." He pointed out that Congress has the power to end controls any time it wishes if it should develop later that the restrictions are no longer needed.

But now, he said, there are inflationary pressures likely to continue for several months. It would be unwise to scrap controls until the situation has changed, he said.

Opponents of an extension said in advance of today's session they doubted they could muster the votes to end the program next month.

Sen. John W. Bricker (R-Ohio) told a reporter he favors wiping out wage-price curbs.

"But I doubt, very much that we can do it," he added, noting that a similar motion to scrap the program was rejected in the Senate Banking Committee by a vote of 9 to 4.

Sen. Maybank, the committee chairman and floor manager of the bill, predicted passage probably next week without substantial change.

The House Banking Committee completed hearings on its controls bill yesterday and plans to vote on the measure next week.

Among other things, the Senate bill also would extend rent control and authority to allocate scarce essential materials to June 30, 1953. President Truman asked for extension of those provisions and wage-price controls to June 30, 1954.

Another section of the bill would abolish the present Wage Stabilization Board and replace it with an all-public panel stripped of authority to recommend settlement of labor-management disputes.

The board — on which labor, industry and the public now have equal representation — came up with recommendations in the steel dispute which resulted in a deadlock and led to government seizure of the mills.

In a report to the Senate yesterday, a majority of the Banking committee said the WSB as now set up as powers which could sound "the death knell of collective bargaining."

SOCIETY

Phone 7-3431 Between 8 A. M. and 4 P. M.

Calendar

Friday, May 30

Mrs. Edwin Stewart will present Sue Gilbert, senior student, in a piano recital assisted by Linda Gilbert, pianist, Friday evening, May 30, at 8 o'clock at the Hope High School auditorium. The public is invited.

The Junior Auxiliary of the Garrett Memorial Church will meet Friday night, May 30, instead of Thursday night as scheduled. The change is for this week only.

Sunday, June 1

Mrs. Edwin Stewart will present her Junior High School piano students in a recital at the High School auditorium on Sunday afternoon, June 1, at 3:30. The public is invited.

Monday, June 2

A Girl Scout day camp will be

WASHED-AIR COOLED

RIALTO

STARTS TODAY
2 — BIG — HITS — 2

Listen to the Call of High Adventure!
David Bruce
Laura Lee
Zoro, the Wonder Dog
in
"Timber Fury"

PLUS

Whip Wilson
Andy Clyde
in
"Cherokee Uprising"

"Captain Video" No. 8
Color Cartoon

STAGESHOW
Saturday Nite — 7:30
Music You Love to Hear

GREATER MOVIE ENTERTAINMENT AT YOUR MALCO THEATRES

See it Now!

THE PICTURE THAT'S SO EXCITING
IT INSPIRED THE MOST EXCITING
PERFORMANCES OF THE YEAR!

BEST ACTRESS VIVIEN LEIGH
...as Blanche, who wanted so much to stay a lady!

BEST SUPPORTING ACTRESS KIM HUNTER
...as Stella

BEST SUPPORTING ACTOR KARL MALDEN
...as Mitch

A Streetcar Named Desire

5 WINNER OF ACADEMY AWARDS!

VIVIEN LEIGH — MARLON BRANDO

WITH KIM HUNTER • KARL MALDEN
BASED UPON THE ORIGINAL PLAY BY "STREETCAR NAMED DESIRE"
BY TENNESSEE WILLIAMS
AS PRESENTED ON THE STAGE BY GREAT DAYTON THEATRE
DIRECTED BY ELIA KAZAN
DISTRIBUTED BY WARNER BROS.

ADULTS ONLY
STARTS
SUNDAY

SAENGER

ADDED • LATE NEWS

Features Sunday
1:15 - 3:45 - 6:15 - 8:50

A TERRIFIC
FAMILY HIT!
★ RIALTO
STARTS SUNDAY

Features Sunday
1:28 - 3:22 - 5:16
7:10 - 9:04

Call to GREAT Adventure!

DRUMS IN THE DEEP SOUTH

Barbara Jones
MADISON - PAYTON - CRAIG

"Hawaiian Poets" • "My Favorite President" • Cartoons

MOVIES ARE YOUR CHEAPEST AND BEST FORM OF ENTERTAINMENT

picnic at Fair Park Tuesday night, May 27.

The supper was served in box style to the twenty-one members present.

During the business meeting Mrs. L. B. Tooley was elected president for the coming year and Mrs. Lawrence Martin, vice-president.

Coming and Going

Miss Thalia Chism who has been attending Mary Hardin-Baylor College, Belton, Texas, has arrived to spend the summer with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Chism and family.

Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Hobbs have had as guests Mrs. Hobbs' sisters, Mrs. H. R. Hollingsworth of Pensacola, Florida, and Mrs. Theo E. Malsenbach of Chicago, Illinois. They returned to their homes this morning with Mrs. Hobbs and daughter, Sandra, accompanying Mrs. Hollingsworth to Pensacola for a visit.

Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Cook and family are leaving today for Midland, Texas, where they will make their home.

Hospital Notes

Branch
Admitted: Mrs. W. L. Boatman, Gordon, Mrs. Kenneth Ratcliff, of Bossier City, La.

Discharged: Marjorie Purdie, of Rosston, Jerry Purdie, Rosston, Mrs. Bill Collins, Hope, Mrs. W. E. Cox, Sr. Fulton, Fred McJunkin Saratoga.

Sgt. and Mrs. Kenneth Ratcliff are expected to call on the general then.

During the week of June 9, he'll be at his residence at Columbia University, the spokesman said.

Eisenhower took a leave of absence as president of Columbia when he was chosen to head the North Atlantic Treaty Organization in Paris.

Other meetings will take place in Denver after Eisenhower sets up his headquarters at the Brown Palace Hotel.

The spokesman declined to say how many delegation heads have accepted the invitations to talk with Eisenhower, but Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin of Maryland said last night he would confer with the general in New York June 11.

At the moment, the spokesman said, Eisenhower has scheduled speaking engagements in only Abilene and Detroit.

Ike Invites in All Heads of Delegations

Washington, May 30 (AP)—Gen. Dwight Eisenhower's campaign headquarters reported today the head of every state delegation to the Republican national convention has been invited to call on the general before the convention to learn his views on the major issues of the day.

A spokesman said the talks will be held in Abilene, Kan., New York and Denver.

"They'll be give-and-take sessions," he said. "The delegates ask the general anything they want."

Eisenhower turned over his European defense command to Gen. Matthew Ridgway in Paris today and told newsmen he will shed his uniform Tuesday but won't take part in any active campaign for the nomination.

The spokesman said Eisenhower meant "he won't go on any transcontinental train trips or go around shaking hands."

But, he said, "he will talk to anybody who comes to see him. And that includes party leaders as well as delegates."

The first conferences with convention delegates will be held in Abilene next week.

Eisenhower's first speech after his return from Europe Sunday will be at his home town in Abilene next Wednesday.

The spokesman said delegate leaders from a number of states are expected to call on the general then.

During the week of June 9, he'll be at his residence at Columbia University, the spokesman said.

Eisenhower took a leave of absence as president of Columbia when he was chosen to head the North Atlantic Treaty Organization in Paris.

Other meetings will take place in Denver after Eisenhower sets up his headquarters at the Brown Palace Hotel.

The spokesman declined to say how many delegation heads have accepted the invitations to talk with Eisenhower, but Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin of Maryland said last night he would confer with the general in New York June 11.

At the moment, the spokesman said, Eisenhower has scheduled speaking engagements in only Abilene and Detroit.

Holiday Death Toll Already 31

By The Associated Press

Accidental death claimed the lives of 53 people before the long Memorial Day holiday had hardly started.

Of the total 40 died in traffic accidents, including a six-car pile-up at Auburn, N. Y., which killed three. Two cars crashed head-on and the others became entangled when one driver stopped to see what happened.

Deaths on the highways began to mount today as the nation celebrated the long Memorial Day holiday.

Traffic mishaps had produced 24 fatalities from 6:00 p. m. (local time) Thursday through 10:00 a. m. (local time) Friday. Total accident deaths were 31, including six by drowning and one from miscellaneous causes.

School Board May Face Court Action

Little Rock, May 30 (AP)—The Little Rock School Board faces court action for its failure to renew the contract of a mathematics teacher at West Side Junior High School.

The teacher, 24-year-old Hugh Donoho, filed a suit in Pulaski County Chancery Court yesterday, charging that the Board failed to re-hire him because of his activities in helping organize Local 1149, AFL American Federation of Teachers, here.

He seeks an injunction forcing the board to renew his contract for 1952-53 year on the ground that the board's action violated the state constitution and state laws.

The Grand Canyon of the Colorado is 270 miles long with a maximum width of 13 miles and depth of 6,000 feet.

Arrival of a baby boy, Alan Wayne, on May 29, 1952.

Josephine
Admitted: Mrs. Austin Lee, Lewisville.

Discharged: Mrs. L. C. Sanders, Hope.

Mr. and Mrs. Austin Lee announce the arrival of a daughter on May 30, 1952.

Julia Chester
Admitted: Miss Nell McCargo, Hope, Terry Wayne Brice, Hope, Mrs. A. L. Ross, McCaskill.

Movie Bad Boy Breaks Hand

Hollywood, May 29 (AP)—Alan Ladd will be wearing a cast on his right hand for a while.

He was waging a knife duel before movie cameras yesterday with Actor Joseph Calleia. Ladd swung, saw he might hurt his opponent, and in averting his blow slammed his hand into the concrete floor.

Dr. Daniel Levanthal found a bone in the hand had been broken.

Potato Crop Won't End Shortage

Little Rock, May 30 (AP)—A Little Rock produce wholesaler says that the Arkansas potato crop will not ease a shortage of potatoes in the state.

An Associated Press survey revealed yesterday that produce buyers do not expect the shortage to end before mid-June.

The shortage developed when the Agriculture Department removed price supports on potatoes and farmers reduced their acreage in fear of low prices.

One wholesaler said the Arkansas crop dropped at least 800 acres this year. William L. Humphries, secretary-treasurer of the Arkansas Wholesale Grocers Association, said that the government's prediction that "supply will meet demand" is "erroneous." He said that inventories are wiped out.

Produce wholesalers in Little Rock said they are unable to procure potatoes from any of their sources. One buyer said he hasn't had any potatoes in 60 days. Another said a carload arrived yesterday and were gone before noon.

Concerning Black Markets John R. Bagby, district information officer of the Office of Price Stabilization, said several investigations have been instituted in the state for alleged over-the-ceiling price sales, but that no charges have been filed.

There was at least one report of "over-the-ceiling price" potato sales. At Malvern, the Daily Record said potatoes are selling at 7 to 8 cents a pound. OPS ceiling prices are set at 4.82 cents a pound.

There was at least one report of "over-the-ceiling price" potato sales. At Malvern, the Daily Record said potatoes are selling at 7 to 8 cents a pound. OPS ceiling prices are set at 4.82 cents a pound.

There was at least one report of "over-the-ceiling price" potato sales. At Malvern, the Daily Record said potatoes are selling at 7 to 8 cents a pound. OPS ceiling prices are set at 4.82 cents a pound.

There was at least one report of "over-the-ceiling price" potato sales. At Malvern, the Daily Record said potatoes are selling at 7 to 8 cents a pound. OPS ceiling prices are set at 4.82 cents a pound.

There was at least one report of "over-the-ceiling price" potato sales. At Malvern, the Daily Record said potatoes are selling at 7 to 8 cents a pound. OPS ceiling prices are set at 4.82 cents a pound.

There was at least one report of "over-the-ceiling price" potato sales. At Malvern, the Daily Record said potatoes are selling at 7 to 8 cents a pound. OPS ceiling prices are set at 4.82 cents a pound.

There was at least one report of "over-the-ceiling price" potato sales. At Malvern, the Daily Record said potatoes are selling at 7 to 8 cents a pound. OPS ceiling prices are set at 4.82 cents a pound.

There was at least one report of "over-the-ceiling price" potato sales. At Malvern, the Daily Record said potatoes are selling at 7 to 8 cents a pound. OPS ceiling prices are set at 4.82 cents a pound.

There was at least one report of "over-the-ceiling price" potato sales. At Malvern, the Daily Record said potatoes are selling at 7 to 8 cents a pound. OPS ceiling prices are set at 4.82 cents a pound.

There was at least one report of "over-the-ceiling price" potato sales. At Malvern, the Daily Record said potatoes are selling at 7 to 8 cents a pound. OPS ceiling prices are set at 4.82 cents a pound.

There was at least one report of "over-the-ceiling price" potato sales. At Malvern, the Daily Record said potatoes are selling at 7 to 8 cents a pound. OPS ceiling prices are set at 4.82 cents a pound.

There was at least one report of "over-the-ceiling price" potato sales. At Malvern, the Daily Record said potatoes are selling at 7 to 8 cents a pound. OPS ceiling prices are set at 4.82 cents a pound.

There was at least one report of "over-the-ceiling price" potato sales. At Malvern, the Daily Record said potatoes are selling at 7 to 8 cents a pound. OPS ceiling prices are set at 4.82 cents a pound.

There was at least one report of "over-the-ceiling price" potato sales. At Malvern, the Daily Record said potatoes are selling at 7 to 8 cents a pound. OPS ceiling prices are set at 4.82 cents a pound.

There was at least one report of "over-the-ceiling price" potato sales. At Malvern, the Daily Record said potatoes are selling at 7 to 8 cents a pound. OPS ceiling prices are set at 4.82 cents a pound.

There was at least one report of "over-the-ceiling price" potato sales. At Malvern, the Daily Record said potatoes are selling at 7 to 8 cents a pound. OPS ceiling prices are set at 4.82 cents a pound.

There was at least one report of "over-the-ceiling price" potato sales. At Malvern, the Daily Record said potatoes are selling at 7 to 8 cents a pound. OPS ceiling prices are set at 4.82 cents a pound.

There was at least one report of "over-the-ceiling price" potato sales. At Malvern, the Daily Record said potatoes are selling at 7 to 8 cents a pound. OPS ceiling prices are set at 4.82 cents a pound.

There was at least one report of "over-the-ceiling price" potato sales. At Malvern, the Daily Record said potatoes are selling at 7 to 8 cents a pound. OPS ceiling prices are set at 4.82 cents a pound.

There was at least one report of "over-the-ceiling price" potato sales. At Malvern, the Daily Record said potatoes are selling at 7 to 8 cents a pound. OPS ceiling prices are set at 4.82 cents a pound.

There was at least one report of "over-the-ceiling price" potato sales. At Malvern, the Daily Record said potatoes are selling at 7 to 8 cents a pound. OPS ceiling prices are set at 4.82 cents a pound.

There was at least one report of "over-the-ceiling price" potato sales. At Malvern, the Daily Record said potatoes are selling at 7 to 8 cents a pound. OPS ceiling prices are set at 4.82 cents a pound.

There was at least one report of "over-the-ceiling price" potato sales. At Malvern, the Daily Record said potatoes are selling at 7 to 8 cents a pound. OPS ceiling prices are set at 4.82 cents a pound.

DOROTHY DIX

The Big City

Dear Miss Dix: I am a desperately, completely miserable girl in my late twenties. I feel that the small town in which I live has no opportunity for me and I'd like to go to a large city. I am an experienced clerk and receptionist, have the ability to meet people and am socially adaptable. I'm sure I'd have no difficulty finding a job, but I would like to know if there is an agency or persons who would help me locate a good room. I'd like some information on getting settled in a strange city.

BEATRICE F.
Answer: With your apparent poise and assurance, you should have no difficulty making your own way in a city. The experience can be a most disheartening, or exhilarating, one, depending upon your own personality and ability.

It would be most unwise to decide to tackle the complexities of city life with no preparation whatsoever; your wisdom in seeking advice before embarking on the venture is commendable.

Try The Y. W. C. A.
The Y. W. C. A. does a splendid job of accommodating young girls; if they have no room in their own quarters, they will recommend one. Why not obtain a copy of a newspaper published in the city where you expect to live? This will give you an idea of both living quarters and jobs available. When you go, take letters of recommendation from two or three people in your town, such as your clergyman, a teacher, librarian or other responsible citizen. These will prove invaluable on many occasions. Be sure you have enough money to tide you over a possible period of unemployment, and guard against that horrible "all-alone-in-a-big-city" feeling by making a church connection. Locate some group activities you can join, such as art classes, gymnasium workouts, Red Cross work or something similar.

If you find, after a reasonable trial, that your idea of city life was grossly exaggerated, don't be too proud to pack up and go home. A big city can be awfully cold, after the friendliness of a small town but you won't be the first person to find it unresponsive.

Dear Miss Dix: For the past four months I have been writing to a boy in service. Last week he came home, hoping to meet me. My girl will continue a career I had before under my maiden name. Do you suggest I take my maiden name back or use my married name now? My husband is remarried to there is another Mrs. M. I don't care to be in the same class. D.M.

Answer: Under the circumstances, I think it would be wise for you to resume your maiden name. This privilege is usually given a divorcee. If it hasn't already been granted you, the legal procedure is simple.

Answer: You don't give your age, but from your letter I place you in the mid-teens. While your exuberance is perfectly understandable, don't you think you're taking a lot for granted when you assume that one meeting with a boy's parents puts you practically on a "going steady" basis? You don't say that the boy asked you to wait for him, or gave any further encouragement that he wanted you. Why not write to him — friendly, newsy, cheerful letters; go about as you did before the fateful meeting and bide your time; don't, whatever you do, indicate to the young man how seriously you are taking him. That's the surest way to scare the poor boy.

Dear Miss Dix: I am a middle-aged woman recently divorced after fifteen years of marriage.

Answer: You don't give your age, but from your letter I place you in the mid-teens. While your exuberance is perfectly understandable, don't you think you're taking a lot for granted when you assume that one meeting with a boy's parents puts you practically on a "going steady" basis? You don't say that the boy asked you to wait for him, or gave any further encouragement that he wanted you. Why not write to him — friendly, newsy, cheerful letters; go about as you did before the fateful meeting and bide your time; don't, whatever you do, indicate to the young man how seriously you are taking him. That's the surest way to scare the poor boy.

Answer: You don't give your age, but from your letter I place you in the mid-teens. While your exuberance is perfectly understandable, don't you think you're taking a lot for granted when you assume that one meeting with a boy's parents puts you practically on a "going steady" basis? You don't say that the boy asked you to wait for him, or gave any further encouragement that he wanted you. Why not write to him — friendly, newsy, cheerful letters; go about as you did before the fateful meeting and bide your time; don't, whatever you do, indicate to the young man how seriously you are taking him. That's the surest way to scare the poor boy.

Answer: You don't give your age, but from your letter I place you in the mid-teens. While your exuberance is perfectly understandable, don't you think you're taking a lot for granted when you assume that one meeting with a boy's parents puts you practically on a "going steady" basis? You don't say that the boy asked you to wait for him, or gave any further encouragement that he wanted you. Why not write to him — friendly, newsy, cheerful letters; go about as you did before the fateful meeting and bide your time; don't, whatever you do, indicate to the young man how seriously you are taking him. That's the surest way to scare the poor boy.

Answer: You don't give your age, but from your letter I place you in the mid-teens. While your exuberance is perfectly understandable, don't you think you're taking a lot for granted when you assume that one meeting with a boy's parents puts you practically on a "going steady" basis? You don't say that the boy asked you to wait for him, or gave any further encouragement that he wanted you. Why not write to him — friendly, newsy, cheerful letters; go about as you did before the fateful meeting and bide your time; don't, whatever you do, indicate to the young man how seriously you are taking him. That's the surest way to scare the poor boy.

Answer: You don't give your age, but from your letter I place you in the mid-teens. While your exuberance is perfectly understandable, don't you think you're taking a lot for granted when you assume that one meeting with a boy's parents puts you practically on a "going steady" basis? You don't say that the boy asked you to wait for him, or gave any further encouragement that he wanted you. Why not write to him — friendly, newsy, cheerful letters; go about as you did before the fateful meeting and bide your time; don't, whatever you do, indicate to the young man how seriously you are taking him. That's the surest way to scare the poor boy.

Answer: You don't give your age, but from your letter I place you in the mid-teens. While your exuberance is perfectly understandable, don't you think you're taking a lot for granted when you assume that one meeting with a boy's parents puts you practically on a "going steady" basis? You don't say that the boy asked you to wait for him, or gave any further encouragement that he wanted you. Why not write to him — friendly, newsy, cheerful letters; go about as you did before the fateful meeting and bide your time; don't, whatever you do, indicate to the young man how seriously you are taking him. That's the surest way to scare the poor boy.

Answer: You don't give your age, but from your letter I place you in the mid-teens. While your exuberance is perfectly understandable, don't you think you're taking a lot for granted when you assume that one meeting with a boy's parents puts you practically on a "going steady" basis? You don't say that the boy asked you to wait for him, or gave any further encouragement that he wanted you. Why not write to him — friendly, newsy, cheerful letters; go about as you did before the fateful meeting and bide your time; don't, whatever you do, indicate to the young man how seriously you are taking him. That's the surest way to scare the poor boy.

Answer: You don't give your age, but from your letter I place you in the mid-teens. While your exuberance is perfectly understandable, don't you think you're taking a lot for granted when you assume that one meeting with a boy's parents puts you practically on a "going steady" basis? You don't say that the boy asked you to wait for him, or gave any further encouragement that he wanted you. Why not write to him — friendly, newsy, cheerful letters; go about as you did before the fateful meeting and bide your time; don't, whatever you do, indicate to the young man how seriously you are taking him. That's the surest way to scare the poor boy.

Answer: You don't give your age, but from your letter I place you in the mid-teens. While your exuberance is perfectly understandable, don't you think you're taking a lot for granted when you assume that one meeting with a boy's parents puts you practically on a "going steady" basis? You don't say that the boy asked you to wait for him, or gave any further encouragement that he wanted you. Why not write to him — friendly, newsy, cheerful letters; go about as you did before the fateful meeting and bide your time; don't, whatever you do, indicate to the young man how seriously you are taking him. That's the surest way to scare the poor boy.

Answer: You don't give your age, but from your letter I place you in the mid-teens. While your exuberance is perfectly understandable, don't you think you're taking a lot for granted when you assume that one meeting with a boy's parents puts you practically on a "going steady" basis? You don't say that the boy asked you to wait for him, or gave any further encouragement that he wanted you. Why not write to him — friendly, newsy, cheerful letters; go about as you did before the fateful meeting and bide your time; don't, whatever you do, indicate to the young man how seriously you are taking him. That's the surest way to scare the poor boy.

Answer: You don't give your age, but from your letter I place you in the mid-teens. While your exuberance is perfectly understandable, don't you think you're taking a lot for granted when you assume that one meeting with a boy's parents puts you practically on a "going steady" basis? You don't say that the boy asked you to wait for him, or gave any further encouragement that he wanted you. Why not write to him — friendly, newsy, cheerful letters; go about as you did before the fateful meeting and bide your time; don't, whatever you do, indicate to the young man how seriously you are taking him. That's the surest way to scare the poor boy.

Answer: You don't give your age, but from your letter I place you in the mid-teens. While your exuberance is perfectly understandable, don't you think you're taking a lot for granted when you assume that one meeting with a boy's parents puts you practically on a "going steady" basis? You don't say that the boy asked you to wait for him, or gave any further encouragement that he wanted you. Why not write to him — friendly, newsy, cheerful letters; go about as you did before the fateful meeting and bide your time; don't, whatever you do, indicate to the young man how seriously you are taking him. That's the surest way to scare the poor boy.

Answer: You don't give your age, but from your letter I place you in the mid-teens. While your exuberance is perfectly understandable, don't you think you're taking a lot for granted when you assume that one meeting with a boy's parents puts you practically on a "going steady" basis? You don't say that the boy asked you to wait for him, or gave any further encouragement that he wanted you. Why not write to him — friendly, newsy, cheerful letters; go about as you did before the fateful meeting and bide your time; don't, whatever you do, indicate to the young man how seriously you are taking him. That's the surest way to scare the poor boy.

Answer: You don't give your age, but from your letter I place you in the mid-teens. While your exuberance is perfectly understandable, don't you think you're taking a lot for granted when you assume that one meeting with a boy's parents puts you practically on a "going steady" basis? You don't say that the boy asked you to wait for him, or gave any further encouragement that he wanted you. Why not write to him — friendly, newsy, cheerful letters; go about as you did before the fateful meeting and bide your time; don't, whatever you do, indicate to the young man how seriously you are taking him. That's the surest way to scare the poor boy.

Answer: You don't give your age, but from your letter I place you in the mid-teens. While your exuberance is perfectly understandable, don't you think you're taking a lot for granted when you assume that one meeting with a boy's parents puts you practically on a "going steady" basis? You don't say that the boy asked you to wait for him, or gave any further encouragement that he wanted you. Why not write to him — friendly, newsy, cheerful letters; go about as you did before the fateful meeting and bide your time; don't, whatever you do, indicate to the young man how seriously you are taking him. That's the surest way to scare the poor boy.

Answer: You don't give your age, but from your letter I place you in the mid-teens. While your exuberance is perfectly understandable, don't you think you're taking a lot for granted when you assume that one meeting with a boy's parents puts you practically on a "going steady" basis? You don't say that the boy asked you to wait for him, or gave any further encouragement that he wanted you. Why not write to him — friendly, newsy, cheerful letters; go about as you did before the fateful meeting and bide your time; don't, whatever you do, indicate to the young man how seriously you are taking him. That's the surest way to scare the poor boy.

Answer: You don't give your age, but from your letter I place you in the mid-teens. While your exuberance is perfectly understandable, don't you think you're taking a lot for granted when you assume that one meeting with a boy's parents puts you practically on a "going steady" basis? You don't say that the boy asked you to wait for him, or gave any further encouragement that he wanted you. Why not write to him — friendly, newsy, cheerful letters; go about as you did before the fateful meeting and bide your time; don't, whatever you do, indicate to the young man how seriously you are taking him. That's the surest way to scare the poor boy.

Answer: You don't give your age, but from your letter I place you in the mid-teens. While your exuberance is perfectly understandable, don't you think you're taking a lot for granted when you assume that one meeting with a boy's parents puts you practically on a "going steady" basis? You don't say that the boy asked you to wait for him, or gave any further encouragement that he wanted you. Why not write to him — friendly, newsy, cheerful letters; go about as you did before the fateful meeting and bide your time; don't, whatever you do, indicate to the young man how seriously you are taking him. That's the surest way to scare the poor boy.

Answer: You don't give your age, but from your letter I place you in the mid-teens. While your exuberance is perfectly understandable, don't you think you're taking a lot for granted when you assume that one meeting with a boy's parents puts you practically on a "going steady" basis? You don't say that the boy asked you to wait for him, or gave any further encouragement that he wanted you. Why not write to him — friendly, newsy, cheerful letters; go about as you did before the fateful meeting and bide your time; don't, whatever you do, indicate to the young man how seriously you are taking him. That's the surest way to scare the poor boy.

Answer: You don't give your age, but from your letter I place you in the mid-teens. While your exuberance is perfectly understandable, don't you think you're taking a lot for granted when you assume that one meeting with a boy's parents puts you practically on a "going steady" basis? You don't say that the boy asked you to wait for him, or gave any further encouragement that he wanted you. Why not write to him — friendly, newsy, cheerful letters; go about as you did before the fateful meeting and bide your time; don't, whatever you do, indicate to the young man how seriously you are taking him. That's the surest way to scare the poor boy.

Answer: You don't give your age, but from your letter I place you in the mid-teens. While your exuberance is perfectly understandable, don't you think you're taking a lot for granted when you assume that one meeting with a boy's parents puts you practically

